

Southern Cross Forced Down In Newfoundland

CAPTAIN KINGSFORD-SMITH AND THREE COMPANIONS FORCED TO QUIT ATTEMPT TO FINISH THEIR FLIGHT TO NEW YORK

Plane's Radio Compass Gave Them Trouble Altho' They Made A Gallant Fight With Impenetrable Fog Banks On Last Leg of Non-Stop Flight

By E. A. Jeffrey
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, June 25.—Major Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions landed their trimotored monoplane, the Southern Cross, at the Harbor Grace airport today at 6:53 a. m., eastern daylight time after a gallant fight with impenetrable fog banks on the last part of their non-stop flight across the North Atlantic from Ireland.

The four men were freed out from the strain of many hours of blind flying through the pitch-dark fog-bank hours when the plane's radio compass gave them trouble and they were unable to get accurate radio bearings and determine the plane's position.

It was the first time an east-to-west crossing of the Atlantic Ocean to Newfoundland had ever been successfully completed, and the tired crew of the plane, disappointed though they were over their failure to make a non-stop flight through to New York, were happy in their achievement.

The big plane, her three faithful motors beating a crescendo against the bleak rockbound coast of Newfoundland as she came in from the sea, had passed over Cape Race in the early hours of the morning.

John W. Stannage, radio operator of the Southern Cross, had been at the key, constantly giving the world a running account of the flight.

As the Southern Cross neared the island, coastal stations and ships did their utmost to give her radio compass bearings so that Kingsford-Smith, flying blind through the fog, could shape a correct course. The radio compass failed to function properly. Kingsford-Smith said it caused enormous delay.

After passing over Newfoundland, the Australian commander of the flight, saw that his fuel was low.

Reluctantly, though they were dead tired, the crew agreed it would be best to turn back and the big plane which has conquered air trails of the Pacific and North Atlantic Ocean was headed for Harbor Grace.

Major Kingsford-Smith sent a message ahead on the radio set. The signals were becoming fainter as the batteries grew weak.

He asked that 500 gallons of gas and oil be ready for him at the Harbor Grace airport.

Arriving over Harbor Grace, the Southern Cross circled at reduced speed waiting for the ground mists to clear so that the airport would be visible for a landing.

Crowds gathered at the airport early ready to offer the generous, kindly hospitality for which the bleak little isle is noted.

TWENTY-FOUR GRADUATE AT LANGHORNE SCHOOL

Brother and Sister in Two Families Receive Diplomas

DR. WRIGHT, SPEAKER

SOUTH LANGHORNE, June 25.—A brother and sister in two families graduated in the class of 24 from the Langhorne-Middletown high school, when diplomas were presented at the commencement exercises in the Casino, here, last evening.

Several of those who have successfully completed their high school course participated in the program, and the orator of the evening was Dr. I. M. Wright, of Muhlenberg College.

The honor students are: Kathryn Welsh, Robert Sidle, and Rose Chapman. Others to receive diplomas were: Dorothy and Joseph Everitt, Dorothy and LeRoy Reed, Lynford Baxer, Alfred Bottke, Paul Brown, Charles Carter, LeRoy Edwards, Harold H. Haefner, George Paxson, Ernest Poyser, Vernon Stompler, Elwood Wahl, Harold Wright, Dorothy Dayhoff, Edna Fulmore, Madeline King, Ruth Potash, Margaret Schorsch, Ruth Williamson.

Dr. Wright spoke of fundamental philosophy throughout life. "What people think creates greater power in this world than all the wealth," he stated. The speaker dwelt for a time upon the positive man and the negative man, the one who knows where he is going and what he wishes to do, and who has a definite aim in life, with on the other hand the man who has no special purpose or mission but who works in an aimless manner.

"Business of today demands that positive life. The positive minded man builds up a confidence throughout life," Dr. Wright continued by showing the difference between the negative minded and the positive minded individual culminating this phase of his address with "The negative mind keeps on toward a definite goal and sets nothing definite at, and finally success comes to it."

The building up of self control, correct attitude toward religion, leadership, were all dwelt upon in this helpful message delivered to the graduates and the large number of relatives and friends of those who received diplomas.

The diplomas were presented to the group of 24 by Mrs. H. C. Pickering, president of the school board.

In statistics given by Mrs. Pickering after congratulating those who have successfully completed the course, it was brought out that in 1920 there were 272 pupils in the schools, while this year there were 618, or an increase of 127 per cent.

During the past year there were 167 students in the high school. It was announced that the increase in number of graduates from 1921 to 1930 was 188 per cent over the previous ten years. Mrs. Pickering stated that 12 of the 1930 class are planning to continue their studies at institutions of higher learning.

Featured in the evening's program were the following numbers: Selection, high school chorus; invocation, Rev. Isaac E. Brooks, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, LeRoy Reed; president's address, LeRoy Reed; class prophecy, Madeline King; class song, seniors; presentations, Dorothy Reed and Ernest Poyser; class will, Robert Sidle; selections, high school chorus; Alma Mater, assembly; benediction, Rev. Heist, pastor of South Langhorne Lutheran Church.

Elwood Wahl, on behalf of the student council, presented a check for $20, which sum is to be used to purchase pictures for the trophy hall. On behalf of the class of 1930 Mr. Wahl presented two pictures to the school. The gifts were received by Principal William Thomas.

A representative of the alumni association presented a plaque to the school on behalf of the association. Engraved upon the plaque to date are the names of four members of this year's graduating class: Kathryn Welsh who was most outstanding in the four-year commercial course; Robert Sidle, pupil receiving highest average in academic course for four years; Dorothy Reed, best girl athlete in senior class; and Harold Wright, best male athlete in senior class. It was also announced that each of these four individuals will receive silver cups.

The class colors were blue and silver; flower, the red rose; and the motto, "Rather Be Than Seem."

CALVIN S. BOYER IS GIVEN OATH OF OFFICE

Former U. S. District Attorney Sworn In As Judge of Bucks County

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

DOYLESTOWN, June 25.—Calvin S. Boyer, former United States District Attorney who resigned last week to accept the appointment of Governor John S. Fisher as Associate Law Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County, was sworn in yesterday by President Judge Hiram H. Keller at an impressive ceremony in Court Room No. 1.

The front of the large court room was banked in gorgeous floral displays, sent by friends, service clubs, Court House itow employees and court officers. Several hundred persons, including a large number of members of the Bucks County Bar Association, members of Mr. Boyer's family and friends witnessed the ceremony.

Judge Harold G. Knight, of the Montgomery County Court, was seated on the Bench next to President Judge Keller and Judge Boyer.

Governor Fisher's commission was read by Prothonotary John High, after which the oath of office was administered by President Judge Keller, who later declared a brief recess to give Judge Boyer's many friends an opportunity to offer their congratulations.

Judge Boyer will fill an unexpired term that runs until June, 1932. He was formerly District Attorney of Bucks County.

Following the recess, Court again convened and Judges Keller, Boyer and Knight heard the argument of a motion for a new trial in the gas damage case of the Darlington Greenhouses, Doylestown, against the Bucks County Public Service Company.

As the gas company lawyers appeared in the court room amidst the floral displays an amusing layout presented itself.

"We hope there will be no ethyl in our arguments this morning that will destroy the beauty of these flowers," said Webster S. Achey, of Doylestown, member of counsel for the gas company.

"I am sure there is no better test for you than to have flowers here this morning," Judge Knight replied.

In the Darlington gas suit, a jury in January, 1929, awarded the Darlington greenhouses a verdict of $40,000 damages. A new trial was granted and a jury on April 3, 1930, returned a verdict for $4,966.88 in favor of Darlington. Motions for a new trial were again filed and the case is being argued today.

SIX WEDDINGS OF INTEREST TO BRISTOL PEOPLE TAKE PLACE WITHIN THE PAST TWENTY-FOUR HOURS; TWO CEREMONIES PERFORMED HERE, TWO IN PHILADELPHIA, ONE IN TULLYTOWN, ONE IN NEW YORK STATE

Pastor of Tullytown M. E. Church Takes Bride, His Son Officiating at the Marriage—Miss Mary B. Fine Becomes Bride of Roy Hoffman in St. James's Church—Roberts-Wurst Nuptials Observed Last Evening

A wedding of interest to many in pink, these being trimmed with a light shade of blue. Their hats of pink horsehair were enhanced with pink and blue streamers to which were attached pale pink roses. Pink satin slippers and Claro colored stockings completed the costumes.

The garbs of Miss Irie and Miss Bower were similar, being of a pretty shade of orchid silk net over orchid. These were patterned like those of the other two bridesmaids. The hats were also of orchid horse-hair, with streamers of orchid intertwined with rosebuds. Orchid slippers and Claro hose-ry were worn by the two.

Roses, snapdragons and delphinium formed the arm bouquets for the bride's attendants.

The small flower-girl was attired in white organdie, the dress being trimmed with Irish lace. A large white ribbon bow was fastened to her hair, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of old fashioned flowers.

A reception took place at St. James's parish house at the conclusion of the ceremony, invitations being issued to 150 guests.

Many lovely gifts have been received by the bride, who has a host of friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman will leave today for the New England States on a motor tour. Upon their return they will take up their residence in an apartment in Lancaster for the summer months. In the fall they plan to reside in a Media apartment.

The bride, the former Miss Fine, was born in Bristol. She is a graduate of Bristol high school, and of Temple University, Philadelphia, at which latter institution she specialized in health education. At the local high school she participated extensively in sports, being a member of the baseball and basketball teams. She completed her course of study at Temple University in 1927. For the past three years she has been a member of the faculty of the Bristol high school, teaching physical education and hygiene. She has also acted as coach in the girls' athletic activities during that time.

Mr. Hoffman is also well-known in Bristol, having taught for three years at the Bristol high schools, instructing in biology, history and athletics for boys. At present he is connected with the Media high school, teaching history and science, as well as health education. He is a graduate of the Olney high school, and Muhlenberg College. He also attended classes at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The ceremony was performed with a nuptial mass, and Father Montague, pastor of the parish, officiated. John Penkoski, of Trenton, cousin of the groom, served at the mass.

As the bridal party entered the church, the organist played Lohengrin's wedding march, and after the ceremony, the couple left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride was attended by Miss Peg O'Keefe, of Olney, as maid of honor; and Miss Mary McColgan, also of Olney, as bridesmaid. John Barrett, of Beaver street, Bristol, was best man and Romanus Buckley, of Olney, was usher.

This bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful gown of white satin back cape, the bodice of which was made on princess lines, with long sleeves and round neck. A Bertha of lace, edged with

ST. ANN'S WINS SECOND VICTORY OF SEASON

Defeat Independents by The Score of 7 to 6 on St. Ann's Field

HIT EARLY IN CONTEST

Schedule For Tonight
FEDERALS vs. CROYDON
(At Croydon)
Result of Last Night
St. Ann's, 7; Independents, 6

By T. M. Juno

St. Ann's came out of its losing spell last night when it gained its second victory of the Bristol Twilight League, beating the Independents, 7-6, on the Saints' field.

As usual the Dorrance street boys did all their hitting in the early part of the game and then slackened during the last frames. But the Indies were right on the job and by short rallies in the fourth, fifth, and seventh managed to score enough runs to deadlock the score at seven all. In the last canto the Saints pushed over a tally that meant the second triumph of the season. The win does not elevate the Saints from the cellar position.

The winners outfit the Independents, seven to four. The losers made their four hits from the curves of Bracco who was chased from the peak in the fifth inning after pitching run-ners and nohits ball for three innings. In the fourth, Bracco weakened and was found for three hits and three runs all coming as the result of Brushia's pinch-hits. In the following frame, after two runs were over Bracco left the mound and Whyno who relieved him did not allow a hit but enabled the tying run to score. Whyno was credited with the victory.

"Monk" Oriola and "Eddie" Roe stood out in the St. Ann's win, Oriola getting two of the seven hits and driving the winning run across the plate and Roe handling the two pitchers in fine style behind the plate.

"Fred" Hibbs was the hitting star of the losers with two of the four hits. "Nigger" Brushia, batting for Tado in the fourth, drove over three runs with a telling two-base hit to right field.

The Saints scored a run in the opening inning. Wito Gilardi out Pico waited for a walk; the runner went to second on a passed ball and scored on DiTanna's hit to centerfield; Roe and Castor failed to advance DiTanna.

Two more runs were scored in the St. Ann's second. Oriola reached first on P. Hibbs' error; Oriola hit to P. Hibbs who erred again; Missera struck out; all runners were safe when L. Hibbs committed an error on Bracco's fielder's choice, scoring both Oriola and Quici; Gilardi kept it up with a single to left; Pico lined one straight into Jones' mitt who turned it into a double play by throwing to L. Hibbs, catching Bracco off the sack.

The bombardment of Jones continued again in the third. DiTanna opened by striking out; Roe walked; Castor singled off H. Hibbs' knee; both runners advanced on a passed ball; Oriola singled to left, counting Roe and Castor; Oriola and Missera roiled out.

The Independents got in the game by scoring three tallies in the fourth. With one out, P. Hibbs received the first hit off Bracco; Lasprella followed

ELECTRIC TRAINS TO BE OPERATED SUNDAY NEXT

New Service to Be Effective On P. R. R. Between Trenton and Phila.

SPEEDS UP TRAFFIC

Running Time Reduced From Five to Eighteen Minutes

Electric operation of all suburban and local passenger trains between Philadelphia and Trenton will be inaugurated Sunday, it is announced by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The new service between the two cities and intermediate points will speed up transportation, it was stated, resulting in a saving of from 5 to 18 minutes in train runs.

The Philadelphia-Trenton work is part of the project for the complete electrification of the railroad's main line, for both passenger and freight service, from New York to Washington. In addition, the low grade freight lines between the railroad's eastern terminals and the Susquehanna River Valley eventually will be included in the project, the total cost of which is estimated at over $100,000,000.

When electric service between Philadelphia and Trenton is established, the only suburban or short distance steam trains coming into Philadelphia, on either the main or branch lines, will be those on the Schuylkill Valley Branch, now undergoing electrification as far as Norristown.

The main line project will apply, it was stated, only to passenger service for the time being. The operation of electric freight service will start with the completion of the entire project.

Bristol Presbyterians Extend Pastor A Call

Members of the Bristol Presbyterian Church have extended a call to the Rev. S. Brooks Knowlton, pastor of the Light Street Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Maryland, to become the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here.

Rev. Knowlton preached in the local church last Sunday and very favorably impressed the congregation.

The Rev. Knowlton is 32 years of age and is a graduate of Chicago University, formerly the McCormick Seminary. He is married and has a son about two years of age.

The newly selected pastor is a product of the Presbyterian Church at Bryn Mawr and his wife is the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Andrew Mutch, who is the present pastor of the Bryn Mawr Church.

The Rev. Knowlton and his family sail July 9th, on an extended trip abroad but it is presumed that he will make known, previous to his departure whether or not he will accept the call here.

The committee from the Bristol Presbyterian Church has made 17 visits to other churches in order to select a candidate for the local pulpit. They had a total of 109 names to select from. Some of the candidates they heard twice. Not all of them were heard preaching from the pulpits which they at present occupy.

The pulpit of the Bristol church has been vacant over a year and has been filled for a greater portion of that time by the Rev. William M. Yeomans, of Philadelphia, as a stated supply.

FEW ARE LUCKY

Even in a world given to speculation there is nothing to approach the frenzy of wagering that ushers in and surrounds the outstanding turf events of the year. Only a few of the millions of citizens of the British Empire in every quarter of the globe do not take a "flier" on the English Derby.

The two greatest sources of wagering are the Calcutta and the Stock Exchange sweepstakes. The prize that rewards the holder of the winning ticket in the former sweepstakes approximates $1,000,000. There is nothing to compare with these prizes in any of the lotteries that still flourish in many lands. The sale of tickets in the Calcutta sweep is not legally sanctioned in England, but thousands of persons in the old country manage to get hold of a ticket through friends in India. Neither is the Kentucky Derby pool legal but that doesn't prevent hundreds of thousands from buying the "bootlegged" pasteboards through which several hundred dollars is distributed annually to the holders of the lucky tickets.

Derby speculation of this sort is not limited, however, to the four or five world-famous races. Hundreds of others are conducted throughout the length and breadth of the British Empire and in other "empires." They run on down to amounts that would not even purchase a ticket in either of the two major events.

The total public investment in such sweepstakes amounts to millions of dollars. Thousands get nothing for their money, hence, and waiting, but the lucky winners have the opportunity to enjoy the pleasures of great riches. Every year they show a few how it feels to be rich.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Change of standards from age to age has always been characteristic of the human race. Fifty years hence the most extreme and sensational fads of today will seem quite innocuous and commonplace. The sins of one generation become the virtues of the next. Morals are a matter of chronology as well as of geography.

An excerpt from a newspaper shows the many prohibitions by which the girls at boarding schools were hedged in some 90 years ago. One rule rigidly enforced in one center of learning was that no student should associate with gentlemen acquaintances unless the latter were returned missionaries, or agents of benevolent societies.

The boarding school girl of that "moral" era was forbidden more than one hour a day of miscellaneous reading, and the Atlantic Monthly, Shakespeare, Scott, Robinson Crusoe, and "other immoral works" were strictly prohibited.

Thought has become greatly liberalized since a hundred years ago. In fact, a radical change in that direction has taken place in the last two decades. Books condemned a century ago on moral grounds are now so universally approved, even by the bluest puritan, that they are neglected as not being spicy enough.

This is the open season for tire blow-outs and traffic police blow-ups.

The covered dish social sponsored recently by the Ladies' Aid in the chapel was much enjoyed. This is the concluding meeting for the season.

Last Tuesday Mrs. H. Worrell and son Leslie, of Croydon, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Oliver Bowers. Sunday guests of the Bowers family included Mrs. C. Bowers and Miss Grace Bowers, of Philadelphia, while on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bowers and daughter Edna, of Philadelphia, visited their relatives, Edna remaining over the week-end.

Mrs. Dorsey and son week-ended at their bungalow here.

Among the recent visitors to West Bristol was Mr. Sprosen, who spent Friday at his bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. Shultz and children enjoyed Friday at their Broadway avenue bungalow.

The week-end was passed by Mr. and Mrs. McGoldrick and family in West Bristol.

AFTER PROHIBITION, WHAT?

To the Editor of the Public Ledger:

Sir—Liquor has never obeyed any law except by compulsion. It was sold to minors, to intoxicated men, at unlawful hours on Sundays. It paid its license—perhaps—and assumed all the rest. We tried local option—State control is that—and liquor broke that down. We tried the dispensary. Bootleggers and grafters made a farce of it. Our latest attempt is constitutional prohibition, and liquor skillfully, shrewdly, by defiance, by casuistry, by assault in every form, is doing its best to break that down.

Then what? Nullification. The law is beyond its reach. The issue is simple and clear, absolute prohibition or free liquor. All other attempts at control have failed.

As a moral question, the war against liquor will go on. In that field it has been well said, "Nothing is ever settled until it is settled right."

CHARLES H. DARLINGTON, Phoenixville, Pa., March 24, 1930.

Miss O'Keefe, maid of honor, looked attractive in a gown of blue organdie, the bodice of which was tight-fitting and trimmed with a Bertha collar. The skirt was long and full and around the waistline was narrow pink and blue velvet ribbon, held in place in the front with a small rosette of the material, the long streamers of the velvet ribbon ending at the hemline of the skirt. A large horseshoe hat with velvet ribbon trimmings and slippers, matched her dress and she wore flesh color stockings, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The gown worn by the bridesmaid was a duplicate model of that worn by the maid of honor, the color being pink, with large horseshoe hat, and slippers to match. Her stockings were flesh color and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Lindley Square Club, Olney, to the immediate families and friends. The room was tastefully decorated with pink, blue and white crepe paper, palms and flowers and over the bridal table, a large white bell was suspended from the ceiling. A large wedding cake with flowers on either side, formed the centerpiece on the table. During the day, the bride and groom left for an automobile trip through the South and will be gone ten days.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Cullen will reside with the bride's parents at 505 Rusecomb street, Olney. Mrs. Cullen travelled in an orchid crepe-de-chine dress, with white slippers and stockings and white hat.

The bride was born in Bristol and while quite young moved to Philadelphia with her parents. She attended the parochial school and also Philadelphia Business College, and prior to her marriage was employed with the Keynotes Indemnity Exchange in Philadelphia.

The groom was born in Trenton but has been a resident of Bristol for the past thirteen years. He attended St. Mark's School and Holy Ghost College and at the present time is employed as an inspector at the Warner Sand and Gravel Company.

The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts.

with a single to right; (the Saints' Board of Strategy decided to walk L. Hibbs and take a chance on Tulio, but Manager Rubino of the Indies crossed the dope by substituting Brushia to bat for Tulio); Brushia delivered a double to right, scoring F. Hibbs, Lasprella and L. Hibbs; Brushia was out at third on the throw home, Roe to Missera, Kohler fled to left.

St. Ann's retaliated with a run in its part. Gilardi reached first when Avella missed his ny; Pico doubled to left and Gilardi scored; the rest of the batters of the lineup were easy outs.

The Indies counted twice again in the fifth. Jones walked and was forced at second by Morrell; Morrell stole second; Castor stopped Cochran's roller but threw low to get Morrell at third and all hands were safe; Avella fanned; Hibbs delivered a two-bagger to left, scoring Morrell and Cochran; Lasprella walked; L. Hibbs rolled to Castor.

The score was tied by the Independents scoring a run in the seventh. H. Morrell walked and stole second; Cochran sacrificed, Roe to Oriola; Gaffney struck out but Morrell scored on a passed ball; F. Hibbs lifted to Castor.

The Saints won the game in their part. Roe singled to center; Castor hit to left; Oriola doubled through F. Hibbs, scoring Roe with the winning run.

Tonight at Maynes Lane and State Road the deciding game of the first half will be played. A victory for the Croydon boys means that the first half will be in a deadlock with the Hibernians and the Federals as the two first-place teams.

stockings, matched her dress, and she carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss McLaughlin, wore a dress of aquamarine blue crepe which was made with long tight sleeves, full skirt ending in the uneven hemline. A straw hat, slippers and stockings corresponding in color with her dress completed her costume and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party and the immediate families in the rose room at the St. James Hotel, 13th and Walnut streets, Philadelphia. Covers were laid for twenty-five. The room was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. The happy couple left on a motor trip through Maryland and upon their return will reside with the groom's mother, Mrs. William Perry, at 369 Buckley street, Bristol.

Mrs. Perry was born in Mauch Chunk, and with her family came to Bristol about five years ago, moving to Philadelphia in January, 1929. Mr. Perry was born in Bristol, attended St. Mark's parochial school, and is at present an electrical foreman with the Charles Warner Co., Morrisville.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Perry are well known here, and have many friends.

Guests from Allentown, Easton, Mauch Chunk, New York City, Long Island, and Bristol attended the wedding.

McDEVITT-ROCHE

St. Mark's Catholic Church, Radcliffe street, was the scene of a beautiful and interesting wedding this morning at 9 o'clock when Miss Helen A. Roche, of Pine street, and Daniel P. McDevitt, of Wilson avenue, were united in marriage with a nuptial mass. The Rev. J. J. Burns was the officiating priest.

Miss Katharine Keating presided at the organ and preceding the ceremony Percy G. Ford sang "Oh Promise Me." During the mass, Mrs. Carl Winch, of Pond street, sang "Ave Maria."

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marie Roche, of Pine street, and serving Mr. McDevitt as best man was his brother, Edward McDevitt, of Wilson avenue.

The bride was costumed in a beautiful white tulle and tulle gown. The tulle bodice was tight-fitting, made with long tight sleeves and round neck, and trimmed with a Bertha collar edged with tulle. The skirt of the gown was fashioned with three tiers and was ankle length. She wore white kid slippers and silk stockings. From a cap shape lace head-dress the long tulle veil fell in graceful folds; and the bridal bouquet was white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Marie Roche, the bridesmaid, was attractively attired in a gown of lemon chiffon, the bodice of which was tight-fitting, sleeveless, made with round neck line and Bertha collar. The circular skirt was long, ending in points and at the waist line on the right side was a large orchid-colored satin bow. Her slippers and stockings were white, and she wore a large horseshoe hat to match her gown, and carried an arm bouquet of orchid sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, to members of the immediate families. The happy couple left in the afternoon for a honeymoon trip to be spent in Washington and points in Virginia. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. McDevitt will reside at 1518 Wilson avenue. The bride travelled in a dress of blue Romaine crepe, made with bolero jacket and pink blouse. Her hat and hand-bag matched her dress, and she wore tan slippers and stockings.

Mrs. McDevitt is a resident of Bristol, and a graduate of St. Mark's School, and up to the time of her marriage was employed as a clerk at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company office on Mill street. Mr. McDevitt was born in Phillipsburg, N. J., but has been a resident of Bristol for the past sixteen years. He graduated from the high school in Phillipsburg and is now employed as a foreman at a pipe foundry in Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. McDevitt received many beautiful wedding gifts.

KONJOLA ENDED TWO YEARS OF STOMACH MISERY

Daily Work Was Drudgery For Young Lady—New and Different Medicine Wins Fine Victory

MISS EVELYN REYNOLDS

"I suffered from a rundown system for two years," said Miss Evelyn Reynolds, 153½ North Queen Street, Lancaster. "Meals ceased to be a pleasure for after each one quantities of gas formed and I belched a hot, sour liquid. My work became a drudgery and I got into a highly nervous state."

"After hearing about Konjola I started the treatment. Almost immediately I began to feel better. My digestion was restored, constipation was relieved and my nerves were quieted. I work daily and enjoy my tasks. I know Konjola will do for others what it did for me."

Although one bottle often brings relief, it is recommended that six to eight be taken to obtain the best results.

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)
